

You want to make a difference?

We tell you how!

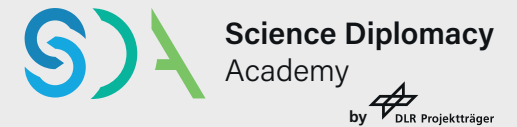

Join the Science Diplomacy Academy

Global challenges can not be solved by any profession or nation alone.

It is the interplay of science, society, international policy and diplomacy that can make a change.

And you can make the difference...

- Policy advisors in international R&D collaborations
- Funding managers and consultants in science and innovation, in Germany and worldwide
- Members in international organisations and networks
- Certified trainers

Take part in one of our tailor-made, interactive and up-to-date trainings.

We will teach you everything there is to know to become a science diplomat and to start a strategy process in your organisation.

For more information SDA@dlr.de

- Diplomat or embassy staff
- Science and technology counsellor or science advisor
- Scientist
- ... or working in another professions at the interface of science, society, international policy and diplomacy